FRANCES (Peaches) BROWNING finds herself the central figure in the rift between Edgar Allen, her booking agent, and his wife, Mrs. Katherine Allen, heiress and former actress. Attention showered on Peaches, shown with her former husband's pet guinea, are reported to have caused Mrs. Allen to quit the booking agent from her Larchmont home. "Browning has framed me, it's a dirty trick," Peaches declared when questioned before doing her act in a New York theatre.

CAMPAIGN STARTS TO PLACE BRIDGES UNDER NEW CONTROL

An investigation of the toll bridge situation in California with a view to the ultimate control by the state of all toll bridges connecting state highways, has been launched by Senator Roy Feltom, San Francisco. Besides bridges already in operation, the measure would effect bridges projected from this county to Marin, in the event the bill gets favorable action at the January session of the state legislature.

Investigation will include an examination of structural and operating costs of the Carquinez toll bridge and other bridges, and an estimate of their current revenues, according to Senator Feltom.

The association of American State Highway officials has endorsed state operation of all toll bridges and the abolishment of toll charges.

Local Men Leave On Weekend Trip

Ralph Bergen, Willard Pong, L. "Doc" Seawright, Hall Sanders and George Lee will leave shortly after noon today for Applegate, in Placer county, where they will spend the weekend on the William Nichol estate.

Mrs. R. E. Blake and daughter have gone to Clovis, New Mexico, to visit with relatives.

SENATOR WILLIS DIES SUDDENLY

Writ Blocks Action On Long Marin Bridge Franchise

FERRY OWNER WINS DELAYAL ON ORDINANCE

A writ of prohibition designed to block the county board of supervisors in adopting an ordinance granting a franchise to Ray O. Long, Berkeley, for the construction of a $15,000,000 bridge joining this county and Marin county, was yesterday filed in the Superior Court by attorneys for Charles Van Damm, president of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry company, and recent rival of Long in bridge franchise competition.

The writ is made returnable in two weeks, and blocks action on the Long franchise until April 14, after which the superior court will hold a hearing on the writ. It is understood that the Contra Costa supervisors intended adopting the Long bridge ordinance at a meeting next Monday.

Van Damm's action follows the decision of Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie Wednesday directing the supervisors to reopen the bridge franchise hearing and give the ferry company head first choice on bridge construction because of his preferential interest as a property owner. The court held that the board has a right to determine the type and location of the structure.

STROM WILSON KEEP POSTS

With no opposition, J. P. Strom and Aubrey Wilson were re-elected as trustees of the Richmond Union high school district at the election held yesterday. The vote was extremely light in all of the precincts with the exception of San Pablo, where there was a contest on in the grammar school district, which brought out a large vote.

At the Washington avenue school Strom polled 14 votes and Wilson 10, at the Grant school each candidate received 13 votes. At the Lincoln school Strom got 13 votes and Wilson 14, and at the other precincts the vote was in the same proportion.

At the San Pablo precinct Strom received 182 votes and Wilson 152, which is probably larger than all the other precincts in the district combined.

Service Held For Y. Nabeto

In the St. Ignace church this afternoon at 2 o'clock, funeral services will be held for Yataro Nabeto, 50, wealthy Japanese nurseryman of Potrero avenue, who passed away two nights ago.

Rev. H. K. Sanborn will officiate and cremation will take place at the Berkeley crematory. Arrangements are being made through Wilson and Kratzer.

Deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Michi Nabeto, and was the father of Toratomo and Shige-hara Nabeto.

Today Is Last Opportunity to Register Vote

Richmond voters are reminded that today is their last opportunity to register for the Presidential primary election on May 1. Every voter who has not signed the register since January 1, 1928, is required to register in order to vote at any election this year.

Voters who fail to declare a partisan affiliation will not be eligible to vote at the Presidential primary, May 1.

Voters may register at the following places:

- A. C. Davis, City hall.
- Mrs. Mildred Ahearn, 715 Macdonald avenue.
- L. W. Brougham, City hall.
- Mrs. Ethel Butler, 600 Ripley.
- E. A. Burr, 309 Twenty-third.

Extradition Papers Sought For Local Man

Extradition papers will be asked by District Attorney Tinning for the return from Billings, Montana, of Ray Reener, former Richmond man, who will face a charge of failure to support a minor child when he is arraigned before Judge Alstrom in the Justice Court.

Reener's wife swore out a warrant for his arrest last October, and he was subsequently arrested in San Diego. He put up a surety bond of $500 and then failed to make a court appearance. Meanwhile the surety company sent out trackers, finally locating Reener in the Montana city.

It was thought that the bond of $500, declared forfeited, will be extended.

Students Form Ukelele Club

A number of students of the Roosevelt Junior high school have formed a ukelele club and plan to present a program at a future date. Rehearsals of a number of the latest selections is being held.

Members of the new organization are: Margaret Bates, Valdemar Blake, Yvonne Biers, Dortha Carpenter, Elsie Correll, Emma Everett, Juanita Hampton, Dorothy Kendall, Ruth Lewis, Violet Norome, Jessie Olsen, Gilberto Souza, Ida Zundell, Pardesia Villa Grace Bode, Mary Garcia, Dorothy Goss, Wilma Groten, Augusta Hoyer, Leona Hoyer, Bill Lane, Mildred Lowell, Helen Ralph, Rosaline Soares, Katherine Soares, June Stanley, Louise Sump and Margaret Vierra.

DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT BY OIL COMPANY IS EXPECTED TO FOLLOW NEW CONFERENCE

It is likely that with the holding of another conference with the officials of the El Dorado Oil Company, the council will be able to make the definite announcement that the company will erect its new plant in Richmond.

At the conference held in San Francisco yesterday, many details in connection with the requests of the oil company were thoroughly gone into, and the committee from the council informed the directors of the oil company, they felt sure when a report was made to the entire membership of the council, that body would agree to the dredging being done by the city.

This was one of the principal questions at issue, and Mayor Mattie Chandler on her return home last evening stated she felt this matter had been ironed out to the satisfaction of the new industry.

Other questions involved were discussed but no definite action by the committee felt they should submit first to the council.

The directors of the oil company selected Richmond as a prospective site for its new plant with the idea in view of securing both rail and water advantages. Its present facility has no harbor facilities and much expensive hauling has to be done.

Those at the conference, besides six directors of the copra company were Mayor Mattie Chandler, City Attorney T. M. Carlson, City Manager J. McVittie, City Engineer E. A. Hoffman, the members of the harbor committee, Councilmen J. N. Hartnett, George F. Black and W. W. Scott, Fred D. Parr of the Parr Terminal Company, and Attorney Williamson, representing the copra company.

When it became apparent that the fliers would break the record, a large crowd gathered at the beach. At one o'clock a plane was sent up with a large sign to inform the fliers that the record had been broken.

The fliers announced that the plane had "behaved beautifully, the motor not missing once."

Police Take Joy Out of Jaywalking

PARIS, March 30.—Jaywalking is forbidden henceforth under a decree issued by the prefect of police, the text of which was published in an official municipal bulletin.

The public is reminded the streets are reserved for vehicles and the sidewalks for pedestrians, and therefore the pedestrians are specifically forbidden to circulate or stand in the streets unnecessarily. Pedestrians are forbidden to cross streets except at corners.

S. F. Bootlegger Pays $500 Fine

John B. Rosenlund, San Francisco, pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor and was fined $500 by Police Judge Odell late yesterday afternoon. He is being held in jail until he raises the fine.

Rosenlund was arrested by Officers Ligon and Middleton at the corner of Forty-first street and Cutting boulevard. Five gallons of liquor were found in his car.

De Molays To Attend Dance

The Richmond chapter of De Molay will be well represented tonight at the DeMolay dance and drill to be held in the civic auditorium, San Francisco, when 25 chapters of the boy district will be present. Seven drill teams will put on the floor work, and a fine program of entertainment is in store for the evening.

Mr. H. G. Stidham, Mrs. Thelma Erickson and her daughter, Winifred, leave today for Carmel to spend a week at the cottage of Mrs. Robert Logan.

CARLFIELD IS WINNER

Fritz Carlfield will succeed himself as trustee of the San Pablo school district. This was determined at the election held yesterday.

There were 197 votes polled, of which number six were spoiled, and of the remaining ballots, Carlfield received 110 and Flohs 81.

Flohs was a write-in candidate, and although he made announcement his name was not to be used, friends cast their ballots for him notwithstanding.

Folsom Riot Flames Anew

FOLSOM, March 30.—One convict is near death and another is in a dungeon here following a fierce battle in a cell late today. The second outbreak in a week.

Robert York, serving five years for burglary from Santa Barbara, attacked Joseph Hinkle, of San Diego, smashed him to the floor with a water bucket and was attempting to kill him when guards intervened. Hinkle was taken to the prison hospital; it is believed his skull is fractured.

The second outbreak of a killing frenzy that struck here Saturday when Floyd Hall, murder partner of the notorious Joe Tanko, is believed to be part of a determined effort inside the prison to wipe out "stool pigeons."

Woman Injured As Cars Meet

Mrs. A. E. Johnston, Richmond, was treated at the Emergency hospital last night for a sprained back, cuts and bruises as the result of a collision at the corner of Cutting and Washoe avenues at 9:10 last night when the car her husband was driving collided with a car driven by Hugh Pearson. Both cars were badly damaged.

SINGERS DEHEARSE

Members of the Richmond choral club, comprising nine voices, held rehearsal in W. O. W. hall last night under the direction of A. E. McKay. The club has made several local appearances, and is grooming for further calls at local churches or wherever its services are needed.

SOLO, READY FOR SPEECH IS STRICKEN

DELAWARE, Ohio, March 30.—Senator Frank B. Willis died here tonight of cerebral hemorrhage a few minutes before he was to have made a speech in behalf of his presidential campaign.

His death was sudden and stunned the populace of Delaware, his home town, who had crowded into Gray's chapel to hear their candidate speak.

The night was turned from joy to sorrow when the announcement of his death was made from the platform where he was to have spoken.

The band had marched at the head of a early lighted parade wherein rode the senator. The procession led to the chapel. The senator, with local dignitaries of the Republican party took his seat on the platform, early decorated with national colors. A quartette from Columbus sang and a minor speaker spoke for a few minutes. Suddenly the senator rose from his seat, motioned to his secretary and motioned to leave the room. He leaned on the shoulder of the secretary, C. A. Jones, until they reached the room, then he said: "Jones, I've never felt this way in my life. Something is awfully wrong."

Then, according to the secretary, he called for his wife, staggered, made a futile grasp to reach the wall. He stumbled and fell into Jones' arms. Dead. It was just 9:30.

Mr. Jones returned to the auditorium and called a physician who pronounced death due to cerebral hemorrhage. Then Mrs. Willis was called from the platform.

There was a murmur from the people crowded into the auditorium. Most of the people fled out solemnly, but others of the curious remained behind. Tragedy had stalked where movement had ruled.

MARCH HIGH IN BUILDING

Building permits for the month of March represented a total expenditure of nearly $100,000, according to figures released yesterday by Deputy Building Inspector J. H. Scholes. The March figures fall below the mark set for last month, when permits totaled $128,015, and also are lower than the amount for March of last year, when $161,236 was expended for building.

This month's figures, however, represent the average monthly activity. Four apartments constructed in March of last year, together with 34 residences, costing $88,206, placed last year's mark above the average.

Permits issued yesterday were as follows: Ira Faughn, erect a cottage and garage in Shiloh street between Mount and Carlson, cost $9,000; S. Ritzky, erect opening in rear of store in Macdonald avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, cost $25; J. S. Spires, erect garage in Tarpin between Elgin and Pennsylvania, and remodel a frame cottage in the same location.

HOTEL GUESTS

Registered yesterday at Hotel Carquinez: Miss I. Anderson, San Francisco; H. E. Travers, Dayton, Ohio; A. Rudspelt, Dayton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Wanser, Sacramento.

LUMBER CAMP SETTING FOR "ICE FLOOD"

The lumber camps of the Northwest are the most interesting places in America.

That's the declaration of Kenneth Harlan, who spent three months in the timber country of Oregon on a location trip during the filming of "The Ice Flood," the Universal-Jewel, in which he plays the featured role, which is now showing at the Richmond Theatre.

The last stand of the adventurous, romantic, hard living type of American is to be found in the lumber camps, Harlan declares.

The West has been stamped out pretty effectively, even in its strongholds of Texas and Arizona, where the cowpunchers now drive Fords, attend camp-meetings and lead Zane Grey for the excitement.

In the lumbercamps, however, Harlan attests, is to be found the real two-fisted, hard-fighting, hard-working lumberjack, just as he has been described in innumerable books and stories.

During the making of the scenes in northern Oregon, several of the best "types" served as atmosphere in the picture, much to the disgust of their associates. The whole region, wherever they went, were intensely interested in the making of pictures, and took off their hats to Harlan, Frank Hagney, Fred Kohler and the others who play the roles of woodsmen in the picture, even if they were actors.

Other film features include the second thrilling chapter of "Heroes of the Wild," featuring Jack Hoxie, and a Felix the Cat cartoon comedy.

TEXAS STEER IS COMEDY RIOT AT CALIFORNIA

The comedy riot of the season, "A Texas Steer" with Will Rogers, America's cowboy humorist and Congressman-at-large, opened its long heralded engagement at the California Theatre yesterday and it fully justified the advance notices acclaiming it the outstanding comedy of the season.

Adding to the uproarious situations in the famous old Charles Hoyt stage success, are Will Rogers' own titles, quite as funny as they are cracked up to be. The ex-Mayor of Beverly is surrounded by an all-star cast.

"A Texas Steer," produced by Sam E. Rork for First National Pictures, and directed by Richard Wallace who made "McFadden's Flats," has Will Rogers in the role of a Texas cattleman elected to Congress against his wishes through the scheming of a socially-ambitious wife and daughter.

Exteriors were actually taken in Washington, and the whole production, authentic in every detail, represents the big effort of First National Pictures to make a comedy special to make millions of theatre goers roar with laughter. The picture gives the inimitable Will the opportunity to air his pet aversion—Congress.

Louise Fazenda has the role of "Ma" Brander, the wife. Ann Rork is the charming daughter, Bossy, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. is in the role of the dude sweetheart. Around Bossy and the dude a sweet and interesting romance is woven.

Sam Hardy, of musical comedy fame, has the part of Brassy Gail, the lobbyist; George Marion, Sr., who created the role of "Fishbeck," minister to Dahomey, in the stage success, has the same part in the screen version, and Mack Swain, William Orlamond and Lucien Littlefield are the picturesque Texas politicians. Bud Jamison has the part of O'hellio, the servant in Washington, who tries to "high hat" the "Minister to Dahomey."

Arthur Hoyt is the comic in the part of "Ma" Brander's social secretary.

Other features include Charley Chase in "Forgotten Sweeties," a Hal Roach comedy; Pathe Review; and Current events.

BRIDE IS WANTED FOR BUICK SPRING FASHION SHOW TONIGHT

MARRIAGE TO FEATURE CAR DISPLAY HERE

WANTED: A bride. Richmond girls looking for a handsome young husband and a nest egg of $100 to launch the matrimonial bark, are offered this opportunity at the Buick Spring Fashion show this evening, according to C. E. Kratzer, local Buick dealer, with display rooms at Tenth street and Bissell avenue.

Several young bachelors already have entered the lists for tonight's event, and Kratzer announces he will accept the names of young ladies who want a real wedding with all the trimmings and in a setting not often rivaled even at court ceremonies.

The handsome display room is being decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and colored streamers. Attending the fortunate bride and bridegroom will be pretty girls for bridesmaids and handsome young men. Music will play out the wedding march.

Latest models of Buick cars will be on display, with beautiful girl models, handsomely gowned, and young men in latest male attire and a touch of reality to the things. The new Buicks present a bewildering variety of colors in the floral and jewel shade.

Kratzer is bending every effort toward making the affair a great success, and the display rooms are expected to be crowded to capacity this evening when throngs will come to witness the marriage ceremony and get a glimpse of the new motorcars.

Cooperation has been extended to Kratzer by Gardinier's store for women, which will furnish gowns for the girl models, while Mall's store will provide latest men's styles for the male models.

A dress parade was held in the display rooms last night when female and male models practiced in preparation for the elaborate event this evening.

ROTARY HEARS OAK PASTOR

Rev. Clarence Reed, pastor of the Oakland Unitarian church, addressed members of the Richmond Rotary club yesterday noon, making an impressive talk on "An American Invasion of Europe."

Dr. Reed, who spent many months in European wars, gave a clear account of conditions there.

"I have been disillusioned about Europe," he declared, "and what we fought for. I hope and pray that no American boy will ever be called upon to uphold the hands of the European war lords."

Dr. Reed declared that the only salvation for European nations rested upon outlawing war, as proposed by Secretary of State Kellogg.

Jazz has taken a firm hold in the old country, he said, while motion pictures have given the natives a wrong impression of this country.

Dean Inge Finds Fault With Clergy's Narrowness

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, March 30.—Dr. Inge, the famous "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's Cathedral and one of Britain's foremost thinkers, has produced a defiant, outspoken article on the "narrowness" of the Anglican church.

Dean Inge's article was published recently in the Evening Standard. In it, he ranged in subject matter from the "deadly sin" of drinking a glass of beer in the United States, to the moot point between Protestantism and Catholicism as to whether a priest of the church should take a wife or remain a celibate, and thence to the martyrdom of a Russian priest as a result of a Russian order requiring the priests to bob their heads.

The "Gloomy Dean" assailed members of the Church of England for their disputations over the so-called "Revised Prayerbook," which is threatening to split the present time to cause a schism in the ranks of the Anglican church. Explaining the central point of the Prayerbook controversy, he wrote: "The present crisis in the church is largely caused by the fact that half the clergy believe that the Creator of the universe would be seriously displeased with them if they consumed tea and bread and butter before administering the Holy Communion. If they are summoned to the bed of a dying man after their breakfast, should they break this precarious rule or allow the sick man to leave the world unhouseled, disappointed, unanointed? They therefore claim to be relieved from this painful dilemma."

Dean Inge uttered a strong complaint against this outlook on religion in the following words: "Sometimes I think in despair that these men worship a different God—that there can be nothing in common between them and me. Did not Christ suffer himself to be nailed to the cross to bring this kind of religion to an end? He did, but the clerical mind must have its taboos, which seem to be valued in proportion to their distance from rationality."

A biting reference to comparative morals in the United States crept into the Dean's writings when he remarked: "In America it is a deadly sin to drink a glass of beer, in many parts of the States the 'cigarette fiend' is excluded from godly society. Worship the Lord with clean lips settles that question."

Referring to the Russian czar's order that priests of the Russian church must clip their beards, Dean Inge commented that "there were, I believe, a few martyrs for Beaverism." He expressed his as his firm opinion that "the question 'To shave or not to shave' has nothing whatever to do with religion or morals."

Referring to another matter which he did not believe had any particular bearing on religion or morals, Dean Inge pointed out that "the Indian Mutiny" was equally caused by the horror of the Sepoys at having to bite cartridges greased with lard and muton fat.

The Dean's conclusion was that "the clerical mind is not happy until it has found desperate wickedness in some perfectly harmless act."

Spring Fashions Bring Back Galaxy Of Bows

By PEARL GROSS

NEW YORK, March 30.—Big bows are back in the fashion world.

Bows are perched on sleeves, shoulders, hips or at the neck line. Madame trains a bow looking like a butterfly about to take flight. She wears a bow at the decollete of her evening gown which ends in a long streamer and forms a train.

Satin, crepe or ribbons comprise the materials out of which these decorative effects are obtained. Taffeta has returned to favor for dressy occasions and lends itself perfectly to the making of these graceful bows.

For Spring wear, collars of white or beige ermine are the style-motif on coats.

A new vivid shade of red known as lacquer or English red will be seen, especially for coat-tracks and sports wear.

The ensemble costume with its three-quarter length coat promises to be popular. These are trimmed with unusual buttons in metals or bone. "Milady can indulge in her like for pockets to her heart's content since the couturiers have adopted patch pockets for frocks as well as tailcoats."

Evening skirts still present an interesting study in the world of fashion.

They continue to be lap-sided, fluffy or of uneven lengths.

Two of the newest evening gowns exhibited here showed the swathed waist and skirt developed in points. They were both made of black chiffon and taffeta. One has a side-drape that reaches to the ground.

Black chiffon and black lace, so flattering and svelte-looking on the feminine figure, is without doubt, to be the reigning favorite for evening wear.

CASES CONTINUED

Inability of one of the defendants to appear yesterday caused a continuance for one week of the case of A. M. Smith against F. H. Drockelman and J. E. Gardella for $47.17 damages to his auto sustained in a triple smashup. The suit is a small claim action before Judge Alstrom.

NEW CLUE TO MURDER VICTIM IS UNEARTHED

A mound of earth in the cellar of the home of Arthur Antoine, Oakland mechanic who murdered his wife so he could marry an 18-year-old sweetheart, yesterday furnished police with a new clue in the hunt for the slain woman's body, authorities having practically abandoned the belief that Antoine threw his wife remains into the water below Carquinez bridge.

Arthur Antoine, who has confessed to the police that he murdered his first wife, Mrs. Ada Rogers Antoine, on January 15, so he could marry Lila Stovall, 18, four days later, was taken by detectives over the murder trial at his home, 3924 Brown avenue.

The police believe that Antoine might become remorse stricken when confronted with the spot where he admits killing the mother of his two children. They also wanted to hear Antoine's story over again, in an environment where he could refresh his memory of details.

Antoine smiled sardonically at holes in the yard where the police had dug up a dead dog and other things in their hunt for the missing woman.

"She's not around here," Antoine is reported to have said. "I told you I threw her off the bridge."

The visit of Antoine to his former home and his re-narration of the crime added nothing to what the police already have, it was announced afterward.

Detectives said nothing to Antoine of having discovered a mound of earth under the house which might cover a grave. They intend to open that this afternoon, but this fact was kept from the prisoner.

Mrs. Thomas Fowler, a neighbor of 3873 Brown avenue, furnished a clue on which Lloyd Stovall, brother of Antoine's girl-bride and the man who brought the police into the case when his sister voiced her suspicions of Antoine to him, began an independent hunt. Stovall has been active in his efforts to find the first Mrs. Antoine.

Mrs. Fowler said a boy had been drowned in an abandoned well in the neighborhood a year ago and since that time children had been warned to keep away from what Stovall is now probing eight or nine abandoned wells in the neighborhood on the theory that the murdered woman might have been thrown into one of them by Antoine.

Antoine is held in jail with no charge against him, while the hunt for his wife's body continues.

Charges Cruelty In Divorce Suit

Charging mental cruelty, Mrs. Laura Martin, Richmond, has commenced suit in the superior court for divorce from her husband, Ernest Martin.

The couple married in 1925 and separated last November.

Greek Deported From Holy Land

CAIRO, March 30.—Deported from Egypt 41 times, Stefano Louvaridis managed to enter the country for the forty-second time when he was found and arrested in Cairo by the police and again deported.

Stefano is 45 years old. Although his alleged criminal record justified the Egyptians in wishing him outside the country, his own weakness for Egypt where he knows he is carefully watched, is unexplained.

Equally mysterious are his movements from the time he is landed at a Greek port and the time he bobs up again at one of the other of Egypt's gateways.

ROOSEVELT TO BE GUEST OF S. F. LEGIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will be the guest of honor at a big dinner affair to be staged by representatives of the American Legion from all parts of California on April 9, in San Francisco, according to an announcement made today by James K. Frisk, state adjutant of the world war veterans' organization. Roosevelt is coming to California to participate in the meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to be held in this city.

The dinner to Roosevelt, one of the fathers of the American Legion, will be given under the auspices of the American Legion's Boy Scout commission headed by Harold H. Price of San Francisco.

The Legion posts throughout the state have sponsored the Boy Scout movement in their respective communities and will participate with Roosevelt in the National Council deliberations.

State Commander Phil Dodson of South Pasadena and other officials of the Legion will be present for the banquet to Roosevelt.

CALICO MOUNT. TRIP APPEALS TO MOTORISTS

For motorists in search of the unusual, a trip to the Calico Mountains lying two miles north of Daguerre, is an enjoyable one, according to the touring department of the National Automobile Club.

The route lies through Cajon Pass, over the desert which is now in its most fascinating state, to Victorville and Barstow; thence to the left over a smooth desert road to the colorful Calico range. These mountains are of volcanic origin, consisting of thick beds of ashes and other fragmentary material with sheets of light-colored lava or rhyolite.

On the south slope, is located the Calico Mine, once a large producer of silver, while on the east side are deposits of volcanic lavas containing a crystalline material of lime which is called "coemanite" and named after W. T. Coleman, one of the discoverers in 1882. These lavas have been extensively mined for the production of borax, the material for many years being treated at a refinery in Daguerre which ceased operations after the discovery of purer deposits elsewhere. The Calico Mountains rise abruptly from the margin of the Mojave Valley and are well named for their slopes are variegated in color—purple, green, brown, red, gray and many intermediate colors.

The discovery of silver in 1880 caused the town of Calico to spring into existence and at one time it boasted a population of 3500 with the attendant saloons and gay dance halls. Now only a few crumbling adobe walls and the bare skeletons of a few buildings remain as evidences of the boom years. Motorists should carry a good supply of water into this district as none is available at any point in these mountains. The few miners haul their water from Yermo.

Basketball Fans Excited As Big Tournament Nears; Fast Teams Are Groomed

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 29.—Back in 1891 when some wandering psychologist conceived and Jimmy Naismith produced the game of basketball, who would have thought the Stagg inter-scholastic tournament would ever be held?

Back in those days of bicycles, long hair and hoop skirts, who would have dreamed that thousands of frenzied human beings would raise up and with lusty lungs cheer on the champions?

In that little R.Y. M.C.A. in Springfield, Mass., where this warring psychologist first theorized the cage game, who would have dared to intimate that in future generations, millions of dollars would be spent annually in pursuit of the sport?

These questions are all answerable with two words: "No one."

And yet today there is hardly a town without a gym. There is hardly a high school, or for that matter a grade school that does not boast of its varsity.

Down in Indiana, the Hoosiers at this season of the year, breathe and live basketball. It is the big game down there. The state champions, selected at the end of three weeks of tournament play, can beat the average college team. I don't believe there is anyone to question that statement.

One of the greatest teams of all times was that of Wabash, known as the "wonder five" which played basketball, almost twenty years ago.

Notre Dame had a good team this year, Indiana and Purdue tied for the conference championship honors.

CHRYSLER IS DISPLAYED TO SHOW FEATURE

A unique display has been arranged by Harry Curry, Richmond dealer for the Chrysler, at his display rooms at Tenth and Macdonald. A Chrysler "62" model, one of the carload recently shipped in, has been stripped and tilted in order that the intricate details of the car may be viewed.

The display offers close inspection of the seven-bearing crankshaft, shimless insulation, and the careful manner in which the frame and body have been assembled.

"We have done this to show the ruggedness, fitness of mechanical finish and the introduction of the newest features of automobile construction," said Curry.

HIGHEST HONOR FOR LINDY

A year ago, Charlie Lindbergh was an unknown citizen of the United States. He flying a mail airplane. On the job and off, his mind was filled with the big idea of a flight alone across the Atlantic.

The other day Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, outstanding hero of the world, was decorated by President Coolidge with the blue ribbon of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

This is the highest gift at the disposal of his government.

It was given as a reward for heroic endeavor such as is usually associated only with stirring action in battle.

Lindbergh's entire public career of approximately ten months shows that world is ready to acclaim great deeds for peace as well as to recognize bravery in war. No service could possibly be of greater benefit than that which this unassuming boy has performed.

He has now received the highest honor his nation can bestow upon a citizen.

If there were any higher, the American people would induct him for it with unanimous fervor.

His tremendous popularity would immensely complicate the political situation if he were old enough to run for President.

As it is, men who have grown mature in politics and statesmanship will have to fight for the vote of the people.

And Lindbergh, probably tickled to death that he is not ripe for such honors, will plug along at his present thrilling game of building respect for America the world over.

MURDER FOR $2

For failure to give $2 upon demand, a Brooklyn school teacher was shot to death in blind, unreasoning rage.

The man who perpetrated this revolting crime never figured on its consequences.

He left the house and callously started to play pool with his companions.

Remarkably good detective work put the police on his trail, and within a few hours he was under arrest.

He now faces the electric chair because of his desire for $2.

Had he stopped to consider the results of his act, he undoubtedly would have reached the decision that it was not worth the price.

If any person, tempted to commit murder, stops to consider, he must reach exactly the same conclusion.

The old fashioned couple who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary is now being superseded by the couples who can celebrate their fiftieth wedding, and not be so old either.

Fifty Years Ago Today

STRONG-ARMED or strong-breathed? This picture shows what happened when some of the militant members of the Temperance Society raided Paddy Burke's cafe. They acted as if they had imbued some of Paddy's strongest liquors before making the descent.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

HOW MUCH ENERGY HAVE YOU

Physical and mental energy is a hard quality to define. No one knows exactly what energy is, but we know it is some sort of force. Most people when they visualize themselves as being full of energy think of possessing both the desire and the ability to work and play vigorously and continually. This, perhaps, expresses the idea as well as any thing.

Energetic people are always on the go, they are mentally and physically active and seem never to tire. Those who are lacking in energy envy them their pep and endurance. But they need not, for they too can possess the energy they desire.

Energy is a result of proper diet and general right habits of living. The so-called energy foods—the natural sugars and starches—are necessary in reasonable amounts, but they must be balanced with plenty of alkalizing fruits and green vegetables. Sunlight is a direct source of energy and we must have it if we are to properly utilize our food. Air and water are always required and plenty of sleep is important. Just being active will in itself create a demand for more energy, which will be supplied if the other habits of living are right.

I am constipated, have a pain in the stomach, feel weak and do not sleep well. I had shingles three months ago and lost a lot of weight. What would you advise?—MRS. M. M. C.

The shingles and the other symptoms are all due to the general toxemia resulting from the constipation and its causes. You do not give your exact weight so I am unable to judge whether you need to gain, but in any case you would probably find a fast for about five days, followed by the milk diet, of much assistance. Alternate hot and cold abdominal compresses and deep breathing exercises after pain has been relieved.

Is it all right to give yeast candy to children? How much can be permitted?—MRS. ORTON.

If any candy is to be used it is better to give the yeast candy rather than the ordinary kind, which is made of refined sugar, artificial coloring and sometimes chocolate. The amount that may be permitted will vary with the amount of sweets used in the rest of the diet. Candy of any kind should be limited as far as possible in order to avoid developing an exaggerated taste for sweets.

I have pain in the head and neck with cracking of the vertebrae when I turn my head. I also have a bad taste and my throat feels somewhat sore. I have lost decayed teeth. Should these be pulled?—MRS. C. F.

No doubt it would be best to have the teeth extracted, but more than this will be required to remove all your symptoms. You probably need a fruit diet to reduce toxemia, followed by a largely raw food diet to properly nourish and exercise the teeth and to reduce catarrh. Spinal manipulation may also be required.

How To Earn Money!

I am a nurse, but have household duties to perform, which are not difficult but confusing. Is there anything in the line of nursing that I could do at home? I would be very thankful.—G. H. R.

I do not know exactly what work connected with nursing could be done at home, but I certainly would be a pity not to sue your training. There might be something in the line of preparing bandages. Look up the nurses' registries in the directories, and consult them concerning work of this kind.

My young sister, 4 years old, is very fond of eggs. My mother has been giving her hard boiled eggs quite often. As usual, my mother was going to give her a hard boiled one. She said "Mother I don't want a round egg. I want a flat one." She wanted a fried.

Affairs of the Heart and Your Marriage Problems

Patricia Lee

Patricia Lee answers questions relating to problems of married life. Names and address should be added to letters as a mark of good faith but will not be published. Readers who desire private answers should inclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of typing, etc. Because of space limitations it is not possible to print answers to all letters received, and readers who wish an early reply should take advantage of this special service. On account of the large quantity of mail coming to this department, about ten days should be allowed for a reply. Write to Patricia Lee, care of this paper.

Dear Patricia Lee:

I am very much in love with a girl who works in the same place I do. I went with her for about four months, but three weeks ago she suddenly stopped going with me for no reason that I know of. I found that she was going with a fellow that she knew before she met me. It sure does hurt, for she has told me that she loved me, and we were even talking about getting married. Her aunt won't allow her to bring this fellow to the house. She meets him on the corner, and he leaves her at her doorstep at night. I try hard to get her off my mind, but I love her so much that I am always thinking of her. I asked her why she left me that way—what reason she had. She said there was no reason for leaving me, but that she still likes me. But I think she likes this other fellow better. I sure would love to get her back. What can I do?—RALPH.

DEAR RALPH:

I think it is an open question as to whether indifference or constancy is most successful in winning the one you love. I should say, since you have tried constancy with so little success, that you now ought to try indifference. Isn't there some other girl you like well enough to take around a little? You needn't make it serious. But I think the young lady has become so used to your devotion that she does not know how much she values it. If she is truly in love with the other man, of course it would be foolish to attempt to win her. There must be strong love on both sides to make a success of marriage.

DADDY DUSK

Twinnie had never before in all her life fallen so far as in her dream—and no wonder. She and Lindy had been in China when they were sucked into the big dark tunnel. Now they thought that they felt a breath of fresh air, but they were still falling, faster and faster.

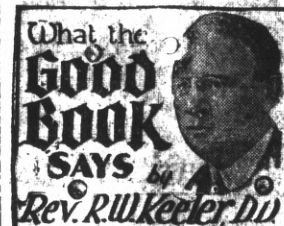

Suddenly Twinnie saw the sky and stars. She thought at first that she had hit the side of the tunnel and was seeing stars, but in a minute she realized that they were shooting out of the mouth of the tunnel.

Twinnie and Lindy weren't at all sure that they would stop when they reached the end of the tunnel or whether they would go right on toward those stars. It was all very strange and mixed up, for the minute they got out into the air they were going up, while in the tunnel they had been going down. And then Twinnie remembered how trains that she could swear were going in the wrong direction sometimes turned around without her knowing it and arrived just where they should.

They shot high up into the air, and then came down again. Twinnie wondered if they would go back into the tunnel, but it seemed to have disappeared. She could see it nowhere.

Down she came, kerplunk, on a snowbank.

Only the funny part about it all was that the snowbank wasn't cold at all. It was nice and warm and soft. And instead of having on her red chinichilla coat and her red beret, Twinnie had on her pink striped pajamas.

"POWDER MY BACK," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picture of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Adelle Dayton, famous musical comedy star playing in "Powder My Back," has numerous photographs made of titled men powdering her back, to be used for publicity purposes. One of these pictures appears in her home taken paper in Brooklyn, Iowa. Maudie, her married sister, sees it and is horribly shocked. She writes to Adelle, inviting her to visit Brooklyn, suggesting that some purifying country air might do her good. Adelle is amused and accepts. On the way to Brooklyn the train conductor is in difficulties as to whether the actress' marmoset shall ride in the coach or the baggage car.

"A marmoset!" the conductor looked still more puzzled. He reached up his hand, pushed his cap back and scratched his head.

"A marmoset," he repeated.

Adelle struggled to suppress a smile, and Renee looked on quite haughtily, as though every one should know exactly what a marmoset was. But the conductor finally took his book of rules from his pocket and began running through it.

"I can't find anything about marmosets in this," he shook his head. "I don't know what to do about it."

"It's perfectly all right, Conductor," Adelle assured him. "He won't hurt anything. You see, he just sits here quietly on my arm. I have a little bag I carry him in."

Adelle was taking some slight interest in the depot, as it was the first time she had seen it. She paid little attention to the loafers, or the women and their babies, but she noticed in particular a well-dressed, good-looking young man who waited for the train and was about to step into her own car.

She was not overly attentive save for the fact that the young man seemed a little better dressed than the usual run of the travelers out this way, and he had a certain way of swinging his broad, young shoulders as he walked. Furthermore, he had the thin, rather pale face of an idealist, with broad brow and a tapering chin, that Adelle told herself, might constitute weakness.

But she returned once more to her train, and the thought that she must tell Renee to get their bags together to get out at the next stop. They would soon be nearing Brooklyn and Maudie, and the old home town.

Adelle almost chuckled when she thought of the sensation she would undoubtedly create as she stepped off the car, and how Maudie would be a little upset—at least, she probably would be, considering the tone of her letter. But then Maudie—

"I beg your pardon."

Adelle sat upright at the sound of a voice beside her. There stood the well-dressed young man she had seen just boarding the train.

CHAPTER VI

Adelle found herself staring up at the young man and watching him as he attempted an explanation.

"I beg your pardon," he repeated somewhat humorously. "But aren't you Adelle Dayton, the actress?"

"I am," Adelle looked at the man standing beside her and saw that his little smile played about her lips.

"I do hope you'll forgive me, Miss Dayton, for intruding this way," the young man still apologized, "but I've seen so many of your pictures, and I've always wanted to meet you."

"Now—that's sweet of you to say so," Adelle murmured, putting on one of her best smiles.

"I'm Harry Stark—I work in the Brooklyn National Bank," the young man introduced himself. "I had heard that you were coming to Brooklyn, but I hadn't hoped to meet you—that is to see you," he stammered.

"Then won't you sit down?" Adelle smiled. "Renee," she turned to the maid behind her. "Can you take the suitcase away so that Mr. Stark may sit down?"

"Oh, let me do it for you," Harry Stark said, and he stepped to the floor and placed it with the maid. Then he sat down beside Adelle.

"It's really awfully good of you to allow me to presume in this way," he began, "but—"

"Oh, I'm certain we'd have met sooner or later," Adelle reassured him. She smiled that same dazzling smile that she used on her audience, and the young man accompanied her with a second smile.

The other occupants of the train stared enviously at the fortunate man who seemed to know this most attractive and magnetic person, but neither Harry nor Adelle paid them the slightest attention. (To be continued.)

WATER PERMIT PERILS EGYPT THIS SUMMER

Cairo, March 29.—Water shortage in Egypt in the coming summer is the subject of the Nile commission report. The Nile commission, to lower the Ministry of Public Works states.

Growers are cautioned to use water sparingly, while repairing their pumps now for use in case of need. Growers are asked also to give all possible help to irrigation officials to enable them to distribute the water in the most useful way. The only hope for improvement lies in more rain.

The harnessing of the Nile to serve the country's agricultural needs took a leap with the laying of the foundation stone by King Hassan. The new barrage is another link in the long chain of irrigation developments begun under British supervision in 1884. A year later a big program was made possible by the allocation of $5,000,000 for irrigation improvement, the repair of the delta barrage beginning a few moments later and completed in 1890.

Basin lands cannot be cultivated when the Nile levels become too low to permit their being flooded. The Assuan dam and Assiut barrage completed in 1902, and the Zifta barrage finished in 1903, helped the basin lands, especially with the high tides of the Assuan dam, of which work continued from 1907 to 1912. Further progress in making the Nile less and less a natural river and more and more an artificial stream was interrupted by the war for ten years. Now the river is again controlled, deflected, raised and lowered to suit the needs of the country through which it flows.

The Nasr Hamadi barrage would benefit primarily the basin lands. It is intended to raise the level of the Nile throughout a considerable stretch south of Cairo so as to place under permanent irrigation large areas of cultivable land for which there is now water available only in years of plentiful supply. More than 150,000 acres are sometimes left uncultivated resulting in loss to landowners, peasants and also to the Government, which foregoes the land tax on irrigated basin lands.

Stalin Group In Control Of Army, Banishes Hope Of Trotsky Armed Revolt

By EDWARD L. DEUSS

MOSCOW, March 30.—Leon D. Trotsky, exiled organizer and former chief in the Red Army, hasn't a chance in the world of starting an armed revolt against the Soviet government. Despite rumors abroad of actual and contemplated rebellions, the Stalin administration in the last six months has clinched its hold on the fighting forces to such an extent that, however great may be the danger of an economic setback, the army is conceded by everybody to be loyal and well disciplined.

Figures presented to party leaders in a report entitled, "The Loyalty of the Army" shows that less than one-half of one per cent of the officers and men in the land, air and sea forces are Trotsky sympathizers. Fifty-one per cent of the officers are tried and true members of the Communist party. A year ago only 30 per cent were Communists.

The process of replacing non-party commanders is going on at a more rapid rate than ever before. About 80 per cent of men and women in officers' training schools and military academies are Communists.

The non-Communist officers retained because of their previous military service are "covered" night and day by loyal Communist adjutants and aides who are in a position to report to the party virtually every move the officers make. The percentage of workmen and workmen's sons in the army has also been increased by 20 per cent. In the last year because workers are more loyal to the government than any other class, peasants who used to make up 70 per cent of the fighters, now number only 30 per cent of the 650,000 to 800,000 men in the standing army. Intensive "political education" is going on among the rank and file so that the vast majority of those who are not Communists are at least not antagonistic to the Stalin regime. This education is decidedly anti-Trotsky.

Officers who have distinguished themselves are always well cared for after retirement. About 66 per cent of retired commanders get jobs as chairmen of village soviets and wield a powerful influence over the peasantry. They are in a position to inform the administration of the slightest disturbance. Trotsky's influence is smashed in every walk of life. News picture agencies and photographers are not allowed to sell a photograph of the former leader. The historic revolutionary movie, "The Great Way," has been called in because Trotsky's appearance on the screen drew cheers from numerous audiences. The name of every battleship, army post, fort and building which was dedicated to Trotsky, has been changed.

IRISH POTEEN MAKERS QUEST BY GUARDSMEN

DERRY, Ireland, March 30.—Moonshining in Kentucky and making poteen in Ireland are very much alike. You have to watch out for the "revenuers."

Two men were discovered by Civic Guards making poteen in a secluded valley in the hills district of Inishowen, Donegal, and when the Guards approached they fled, leaving their stills and other apparatus to be confiscated. One large still was in full working order, and poteen was in the process of distillation, a large quantity having already been made.

Two barrels of mash were found nearby. Buckets, spades and other implements, also were discovered.

Overlooking a glen in Carrowmore, Donegal, not far from the scene where the first still was found, another complete poteen distilling outfit was discovered. The still was contained in a stillhouse on the crest of a hill. The house was so ingeniously concealed that persons passing quite nearby were unable to observe it.

A dugout cut in the side of a bank constituted the main section of the stillhouse, and this was roofed over with tree branches and heather straw. The camouflage was completed by having an immense bundle used as a door.

Two thirty-gallon barrels were found inside the stillhead and more were found in a separate still outside the house.

Missionary Society Installs New Officers

"Japan" formed the subject of discussion for the members of the Macdonald Missionary society at their meeting in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. A. H. Ponge as leader was assisted by Mrs. J. T. Conwell and Miss Nellie Dauglass in the discussion. The devotional was led by Mrs. C. L. Lancaster.

Wisteria, iris and other spring blossoms in keeping with the Japanese motif decorated the walls of the parlors. Oriental hangings added to the atmosphere. Mrs. W. P. Cooper in Japanese costume sang several solos.

The new officers of the society were installed by Rev. Earl W. Haney. Those installed are:

Mrs. C. B. Alexander, president; Mrs. Henry Engleking, vice-president; Mrs. W. H. Cavin, secretary; Mrs. L. R. Jones, councillor for children and young people; Mrs. George Powell, secretary for missionary education; Mrs. Minnie Pardee, secretary for associate members; Mrs. W. A. Boone, treasurer; Mrs. J. H. SAN PABLO AID LUNCHEON IS WELL ATTENDED

More than 100 persons attended the luncheon served in the parlors of the San Pablo church yesterday noon by the Ladies Aid society of the church. The affair was a social and financial success, a tidy sum being raised for the fund. The committee in charge was Mrs. T. W. Wallbank, Mrs. C. R. Dunlap, Mrs. M. Sicon and Mrs. Christina Weckesser.

The tables were artistically decorated in cut spring flowers and a delicious luncheon was served by the ladies of the church.

ROOSEVELT P-T-A FOOD SALE TODAY

Roosevelt Junior high school Parent-Teacher association will hold a food sale today in the Pon Honor store on Macdonald avenue. Pies, cakes and salads will be placed on sale and those making donations have been requested by the committee in charge to bring them to the store not later than 9:30 o'clock. Mrs. Maud Parker, Mrs. H. P. Lods and Mrs. W. W. Scott will be in charge of the sale.

Valencia-Jaramillo Wedding Easter In San Pablo

Miss Alice Valencia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio P. Valencia of 1412 Twenty-fifth street, will become the bride of Burkhardt Jaramillo of San Pablo at high noon in St. Paul's church on Easter Sunday.

Miss Valencia is a popular San Pablo girl and Jaramillo is an employee of the Glan Powder company. Announcement of the engagement was made recently by the parents of the bride.

T. F. B. WHIST PARTY SUCCESS

The whist party of the Fraternal Brotherhood in Musicians hall was well attended and plans for another party to be held next Thursday have been announced. This will conclude the series. A luncheon cloth, which is the grand prize, will be awarded at this time together with other prizes. Mrs. Vatar and Mrs. Robinson of Martinez, Mrs. J. Moore, Mrs. K. W. K. Randall, Mrs. J. Lansman and Mrs. Mary Moyle were holders of high scores.

Luncheon Honors Birthday Of Mrs. H. Lems

A luncheon was given at the home of Mrs. J. O. Burns, 466 Forty-first street, Wednesday, to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. Hazel Lems. Easter decorations in lavender and yellow were carried out in the color scheme.

The honoree received a number of beautiful gifts and it being also Mrs. Burns' birthday, she was presented with a handkerchief shower.

Those present were: The Mesdames L. J. Davis, B. L. Betterton, F. G. Bennett, L. R. Weeks, D. Dodgion, R. L. Wood, P. A. Price, J. E. Wright, C. R. Gray, W. Carille, J. Lems and J. G. Burns.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PARTY TONIGHT

In the parlors of Wesley Methodist church tonight, an April Fools' party will be held by the Senior Epworth League. Elaborate plans are being made by the committee to assure a pleasant evening for all who attend.

LOCAL CLUB FACES HARD GAME TODAY

Coach Barbieri will take his men to San Jose this afternoon to do battle with the strong nine of the San Jose high school. The boys from the prime section are on their way to an N. C. S. championship, having disposed of all but one of their opponents this season.

The San Jose club has taken into camp such formidable clubs as Santa Clara, Hollister, Centerville, Gilroy, Santa Clara prep and San Jose. The boys will probably start in the box this afternoon for the locals, with Boyle Taylor in the bull pen.

The Richmond club is out for a victory, as it will reflect no little credit on its members to defeat the powerful Garden City nine.

LOCAL HURLER SHOWS UP WELL

James Wright, former Richmond mound artist, will probably be a regular on the St. Louis Browns staff this season. Wright pitched against the Memphis team of the Southern League recently, relieving Ernie Nevers, former San Francisco fullback. The Memphis team won, Nevers having been touched for our runs before the local hurler took the box.

Wright was retained by the Browns last season, when he did utility duty in the box.

BANKING LIST FOR NET TEAM

A tentative banking list, enabling members of the newly formed Junior high school tennis team to compete for position, is expected to speed up play and instill new enthusiasm into the members. A class of 34 boys belong to the new organization, which is being coached by Herbert Dunn.

Playing their first match of the season, the Roosevelt team defeated the high school club, four matches to nothing.

Heading the new club is Melvin Ayala, Francis Myhen, vice-president; Edwin Slot, secretary; John Hector, treasurer.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

THE 63 THAT MAY CROWN FARRELL, U. S. CHAMP
Gene Sarazen had something of interest to say the last time we were together in New York city. That was several months ago. "Watch Johnnie Farrell this season," advised Gene. "Mark my words! Farrell will be the next holder of the United States open championship. If he can break through and grab one big tournament to bolster his confidence. That is all he needs—confidence. He has every shot in his bag except self-confidence."

If you read the sporting pages, you undoubtedly observed that Johnnie Farrell broke through the heat one of the classic golf fields ever assembled in the first annual running of the Miami Beach-La Gorce open golf championship in Florida.

It was not the winning of the tournament, so much as the manner in which Farrell won, that strengthens Sarazen's forecast.

Farrell came from behind to win, for he was trailing Bobby Cruikshank by a stroke when he started on the last nine holes. In superior folding up under the pace, Farrell played the greatest round of golf he has ever exhibited in competition. He negotiated the La Gorce course in 63, to win by two shots.

It is easily the finest thing Farrell has ever done in golf and it may provide him with the confidence Sarazen says he needed to round out his golf kit.

Certainly Farrell's misadventures with the United States open championship in the past cannot be traced to any flaw in his stroke. He is easily the most brilliant shotmaker on the professional circuit. When he is tuned up, Farrell can shatter any course record in the country. His 63 at La Gorce is a testimonial to his wizardry.

If Farrell is the next United States open titleholder you can trace it back to the blustery final round at Miami Beach.

It ever he is to gain self-confidence that scorching round of 63 should endow him with it.

FAIRLY MORE DOUGH THAN TITLEHOLDERS
It would be no more than right if Johnnie Farrell did crash through and nip the blue ribbon of professional golf this season, when the "clan gaffers" at the magnificent Olympia Fields layout at Chicago, on June 21.

Lacking a major title, Farrell, nevertheless, has done as much to stir up interest in the game as any professional you can call to mind. This clever-looking, black-haired star has accomplished a great deal of sound "promotion" work for his sport.

Certainly Farrell has been one of the greatest exhibition magnets of the sport. He makes a fine appearance on the course, and his flashing smile and Celtic makeup have long been favored by galleries at exhibition matches. In a game noted for dourness and grudging reserve, Farrell has provided a lighter note and a gayer note.

Year in and year out, Farrell's popularity has enabled him to gross an annual revenue sometimes in excess of the money made by the national champions. He is always in demand, and that is the best proof that golf galleries appreciate a bit of youth and frivolity, even though it is sometimes concealed in a cloud of bunker sand.

It is in these exhibition matches that he has squandered his finest golf.

Free from competitive pressure, the black-haired Quaker Ridge professional had reeled off 67's and 68's. In big tournaments he has not displayed the same facility, and his splendid performance at Miami Beach is eagerly hailed by his friends as a criterion of what he will deliver in the future. They knew he could shoot a 63 but they did not know that he could unflinchingly hit at a critical stage of a big tournament.

RICHMOND VICTOR IN TRACK MEET

Richmond high school athletes made a runaway of the four-cornered track and field meet with University, Oakland and San Leandro, when they added to their heavy field scores of Thursday by cleaning up in the track events staged at Busted Park, Oakland, yesterday. Richmond closed the meet with 74 points; University 25 1-2; Oakland 36 1-2; San Leandro 1.

Allmore breezed in to a first place in the 100-yard dash, making the distance in 10.3. In the mile run Penix of Richmond took first honors, time 5.5. The 220 went to Fringia of Oakland, while McDougal of University took second, Arnold and Fitzpatrick, Richmond third and fourth.

Bracco took first in the high hurdles, while Jackson took second time 11. In the 440, Scarsella won first honors, time 54.3; Ford of Richmond, fourth.

The low hurdle was won by Gibson of University, Jackson, Richmond coming in fourth. Time 14.3.

Van Fleet, Richmond, took the 880, time 2:13.

The relay went to Oakland, University second, Richmond third.

EL CERRITO MAIN EVENT CALLED DRAW

Joe Lomas, El Cerrito, fought a slow draw with Chip Miller of San Francisco in the main event of a fight card held at the El Cerrito Athletic club last night. Neither fighter appeared badly damaged at the end of 10 rounds. A fair sized crowd witnessed the bout.

With not much action inside the ropes, the fans had a chance for diversion when two over-enthusiastic spectators started hostilities, but were unable to get close enough together to exchange blows.

Tim Vahey, San Francisco, and Tommy Bennett, San Jose, fought a six-round draw in the semi-windup.

Billy West, Oakland, better, won from Henry Falgout, San Francisco, when the bout was stopped in the third round. Falgout is said to have fractured his wrist in a recent encounter, and unable to last the full route.

Billy Limer, Oakland, decisively Archie Lazar, San Francisco, four rounds.

In the curtain-raiser, Tommy Nunes and Eddie Mosca, both of Oakland, fought a four-round draw.

ADMISSION PRICE OF THE TUNNEL POSED ON BROADWAY RT.

Stressing the marked saving of fully one-third in construction costs, County Engineers George N. Posey of Alameda county and Ralph R. Arnold of Contra Costa yesterday proposed the building of a twin tunnel on the new low-level Broadway route between two counties on the tunnel road highway, the two tubes to be each 21 feet over all in preference to the 314-foot tunnel which has been proposed.

Discussing the project, Arnold who has held frequent conferences with Posey, concerning the project, estimated that whereas the 31-foot tunnel would cost in the neighborhood of $600 per foot for the 2500 feet of bore, that a 21-foot bore could be built for about $200 per lineal foot and the second and parallel tunnel at another $200 per foot would bring the cost to only $400 or approximately $1,000,000 for the entire low-level tunnel as contrasted with $1,500,000 for the single or larger bore.

In addition to the cost saving Arnold pointed out that parallel tunnels will handle the traffic more expeditiously, the bores being devoted to one-way traffic at all hours and that the continual passing of automobiles in one direction only will assist materially in the ventilating of the bore which will be considerable of a problem if the traffic were to be passing continually in one long tunnel.

Mussolini Hits At Pope In Edict

ROME, March 30.—By a stroke of his pen, Premier Mussolini today canceled the previous concession granted after laborious negotiations to the Vatican several months ago, and through which some thousands of youths of Italy were allowed to remain boy scouts in Catholic organizations.

The Mussolini decision forecast at Wednesday's cabinet meeting is his reply to the speech by the Pope on Sunday last when the pontiff complained against the "monopoly of education of youth, not only physical but moral and spiritual claimed by the government."

Mussolini promised to reply in "thorough fascist style" and has now arrived at a decision settling definitely the state program of the education of the country's youth. Vatican quarters tonight were thunder struck and are anxiously asking whether the premier's decree alludes to the prohibition of the "moral or spiritual education of youth" will dissolve also the Catholic youths clubs as well as the Catholic boy scouts.

Oldest Bottle of Wine In Museum

SPYEYER (Germany), March 30.—The famous Speyer Wine Museum claims to house the world's oldest wine. It is contained in a bottle of Roman origin found in the vicinity of Speyer. The flask is more than 1,700 years old, according to archaeological experts. In the course of the centuries that have passed since the Roman legions left Germany's soil, the liquor has thickened to such a degree that it is now undrinkable.

Haney Speaks At Revival

Rev. Earl W. Haney, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was the surprise speaker last night at the Union revival services in the First Baptist church. The sermon topic was "The Victorious Life."

Last night was devoted to Methodist churches of Richmond and members from Wesley, First and Community Methodist Episcopal churches packed the edifice. Rev. S. T. Himes of Grace Lutheran church was master of ceremonies.

Rev. F. H. Himes, pastor of First Methodist church, read the scripture reading. Special music was presented by a trio composed of Edward Hall, tenor; Jack Thompson, baritone and Mrs. Violet Williams, soprano. They were accompanied by Miss Ruby Williams.

The Sunday evening services will close the successful two weeks of revival held in the church. Preparations are being made to accommodate the overflow in Grace Lutheran church. The sermon topic will be: "The Great Invitation."

The young people of Protestant churches of Richmond will also hold services tomorrow night. The seniors will meet at the church and will later hold a street service under the direction of Captain Ellison of the Salvation Army. The juniors will meet in Grace Lutheran church where services will be in charge of Miss Evelyn Neeley.

Woman 95 Years Old Goes On 1500-Mile Auto Journey

ATLANTA, Ga., March 30.—At the age of 95, Mrs. John E. Alexander started on a 1500-mile automobile trip from Atlanta with as much enthusiasm and anticipation as she did when she made the first trip over the Pennsylvania railroad 87 years ago.

"Why, I traveled from coast to coast a few years ago visiting relatives—and alone, too," said Mrs. Alexander. "I came to Atlanta alone last December from my home in Springfield, Mass., to visit my grand-daughter. This is my sixth visit to Atlanta."

ENJOYS TRAVELLING
"I like to travel, whether it is by train or auto, and I am looking forward with as much eagerness to the Florida trip as I did at the age of eighteen when I traveled over the Pennsylvania railroad just after it opened."

"Understand, though, I am not afflicted with wanderlust. I am fond of home and home life. Once I have paid visits to my relatives I am content to return home and settle down until the next visiting time," she added.

Reminded that she was nearing the centenary class, Mrs. Alexander declared she was looking forward to celebrating her hundredth birthday anniversary.

"It isn't very long until 1933," Mrs. Alexander said smilingly. "I was born September 28, 1833, in Washington county, near Hagerstown, Md."

"What is your recipe for longevity?" she was asked.

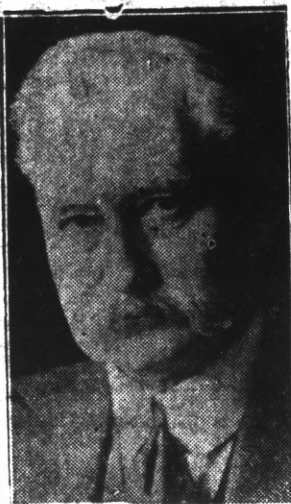

TAKES COLD BATHS
"Well, I might mention that I take a cold sponge bath every morning when I arise. It starts the day right and makes me feel physically fit. And I like to walk. Regular habits, no worries; finding an interest in things about you. These are things that make the years come lightly," she explained.

While giving modern youth credit for many good innovations, Mrs. Alexander does not take kindly to the sophisticated cigarette-smoking flapper. She was frank to admit that the "bobbed-haired miss" in many instances is "too advanced" to put it mildly, for her old-fashioned ideas of modest and demure womanhood.

Although she approves of automobiles and enjoys riding in them, Mrs. Alexander draws the line at airplanes. She declined, with thanks, to "ride the clouds" with Postmaster Large, who offered to visit Candler field for a spin aloft. "No," she said, "I feel safer looking up at them than I would in looking down at the earth I have enjoyed so long."

BAGS WANTED

May Tell All

ALBERT B. FALL, secretary of interior in the Harding cabinet, informed by his doctor that he has only a short time to live, says he now stands ready to break his four years' silence and tell everything he knows about the sensational oil scandals which grew out of his official leases of naval reserves to Sinclair and E. L. Doheny, oil magnates.

Teapot Probe Hits At Movie Czar Will Hays

WASHINGTON, March 30.—How Will H. Hays, overlord of the movies, tried to smother the Teapot Dome investigation a few months after Harry F. Sinclair had advanced him $200,000 in Liberty bonds for aid in clearing up the deficit of the Republican National Committee was told here today by Alva Adams, former United States Senator from Colorado.

Senator Adams a member of the Senate Public Lands Committee at the time, declared that Hays invited the late Senator Edwin Ladd, North Dakota progressive and at the time chairman of the investigating committee, to the White House early in 1924 for the purpose of exerting political pressure to kill off the probe in its initial stages.

D. H. McArthur, former secretary to Ladd, had told the same story to newspaper men earlier. The present senate investigating committee in considering calling both men to tell their story. It also will probably recall Hays to the stand as a result of this development.

STATE WINS DRAIN TROPHY
SAN FRANCISCO, March 30.—California world war veterans have done more for the communities in which they reside than the veterans of any other state, national officials of the American Legion have decided, according to State Commander Phil Dodson of the Legion. As a consequence of the decision, the California state department of the American Legion has been awarded the James A. Drain trophy unanimously for the community service work of the various Legion posts throughout the state.

The trophy was awarded on the basis of reports for the year 1927 when Dr. John P. Slavich, 4 Oakland was state commander of the California Legion. Drain, the donor of the trophy, is a former national commander of the Legion and has been a frequent visitor to California.

Bible Is Read By Girls Frequently

CLEVELAND, March 30.—Who reads the Bible most frequently? College girls, if records at Cleveland Public Library are any criterion. They consult the Bible shelves at the library oftener, says Miss Ilma Foster, of the philosophy and religious department, where translations of the Bible in forty languages are filed. Furthermore, despite the vogue of best sellers, the Bible department shows the highest percentage increase in circulation during the last month, according to Miss Foster. The department had a thirty per cent increase in January and twenty-seven per cent in February.

A NATION-WIDE CHAIN OF DEPARTMENT STORES

J.C. PENNEY Co.

"where savings are greatest"

631 Macdonald Avenue, Richmond, Calif.

NO FIN. QUAL. GOODS. LOW PRICES.

All Ready for Easter

The New—the Stylish—the Modish for Easter and Springtime wear. Our Buyers have gone the limit in assembling these values, that will uphold—to the limit—our reputation of giving "quality—always at a saving!"

We Wish Our Shoes Were Made of Glass

Sometimes we wish our shoes really were made of glass, like Cinderella's slipper of long ago, so that you could see the little differences of workmanship that spell the difference between a good shoe, and one that merely looks good.

You can judge the style and the luster of the leather, but we can't show you such things as honest inner soles, real leather counters to prevent stiffness, full cut vamps and waxed linen stitching thread.

If we sold only a few hundred thousand pair a year, we frankly admit that we could not give you such shoes for the prices we ask. Nobody could. But our shoe orders run into millions of pairs, and of course the manufacturer effects important economies in their production. This saving we pass on to you.

Our shoes, more than anything else perhaps, represent the Penney ideal of Quality; a Quality that goes farther than mere surface prettiness and is built deep down into the merchandise itself.
